

Austin H. Assad

November 2, 2023

Austin Hunter Assad, 33 of Phoenix, Arizona passed away November 2, 2023, in Phoenix, Arizona. He was born January 22, 1990, to James R. Assad and Monica L. (Marin) Dixon in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Austin's life was always an adventure. His love for the finer things in life kept him working hard and afforded him his luxury cars and bags. Austin was handsome, meticulous, and always dressed to the nines and smelled like a bougie boutique for men.

His bright smile, his laughter, and sense of self will be greatly missed. You left us too early, and we just wish we could have one more day with you!

Your body may have passed on to another adventure, but your spirit will always live on.

Austin is survived by his mother, Monica Dixon (Stepfather, Chris Dixon); his two sisters, Brittany (Assad) Smith and Courtney Dixon; his father, James R. Assad; his aunt, Barrie Assad; his paternal grandmother, Gale Waldheim; his maternal grandfather, Don Hall; and his step-grandmother, Judy Dixon.

He was preceded in death by his maternal grandmother, Deanna Hall; his step-grandfather, Everette Dixon, and his paternal grandfather, James E.

Assad.

“ Monica and family, I am sending my deepest condolences. Monica I remember all the times we shared talking about our sons James and Austin and how much time we spent talking about them and that their similarities he is deeply going to be missed by everyone. My prayers go out to you and your family Monica. God bless you all.

“ Austin was a kind, caring, and genuine person. He made others laugh with his fun-loving personality. He was my sister's best friend and they were inseparable. I remember many great times and as I read this tribute I smile thinking about the adventures and his “bougie boutique for men”. The world lost an incredible person on November 2nd. Austin was taken away too soon. Sending my love to Monica, Brittany, and all of his family and friends who cared for him. ❤️😊🤔❤️
