“ My heart and deepest condolences goes our to Jenn’s family and friends. Jenn was one of the first people I met when I arrived in America for the first time to attend TBird back in August of 2016. Not only did her love and support help me through my graduate school experience but also was a voice of reason and a true friend to me and the other international students. I will truly miss you Jenn and so will TBird Rugby! See you on the other side soon my dear.
