“ My dear brother, I can't believe that for now I will no longer hear your voice, swap recipes, hear your stories, your jokes, your hearty laugh or be able to hug you. John, I'm so proud of you and all your accomplishments. I admire your strength & courage. I'll always cherish our childhood shenanigans & all the memories made. Soar high with the angels John. Sincere condolences to Erin & your family. Love, big sis Rie

“ John, I will miss you dearly Bother. I have always cherished our time together and the love, humor, and memories that we shared. We had plenty of good time throughout our life, a few turbulent times, and numerous opportunities to get into trouble together that we just couldn't pass up 😊 You put up a great fight John. I love you and I'm grateful that you are no longer suffering but basking in the glory of our Lord. BTW, if you could somehow let me know if they have squibs in Heaven I would be eternally grateful.

“ As I look back at our lives growing up in Chicago, my memories of John are very fond. There's been so many changes in his life, but he's always contributed to everyone else's life in a positive way. From his job in the county sheriffs department to the last career of his life as an RN he's always giving back to people in some form of service. I feel very blessed to be his little sister and part of the "little kids" in our family. May God bless you, Erin, Dawn, Johnny, Jamie, Danielle, Robert and grandchildren and all of us till we meet again .
