“ Rich-Sherry, I am writing to you in this very loving and sincere moment of celebrating such a young wonderful fulfilled life! Rich was a great man and I loved hearing all his stories about how much he adores you. The cute Valentine's gifts he would bring over and ask for opinions and get materials to finish it and such. His smile he brought to the world! Seeing his VAN gone takes my breath away! When I would leave to drop our daughter off at school, we would both be at the red light awaiting our turn, at times we would be in that goofy moment and wave and make the silliest faces together. Kayley LOVED THAT! Rich making time to make HOMEMADE POPCORN with Kayley... Scott's and hos conversations in the garage, swapping tools, buying appliance bags!! Words cannot explain the depth of pain that we all are seeking right now! Sherry, what I can assure you, is that Rich loved you past the moon and he will now watch over you and guard you for he is now your Angel! Please bring on his love he has for people and carry it on thru you as I'm sure you are the same way! Take care of yourself and share Richard's memories to the fullest! We love every part of you and him as a full! Please if you need anything, dont hesitate to put your jammies and slippers on and join in for dinner or chat away! With love and most respect with you and your loss! Always Peggy and Scott Holland

“ Words are just not adequate to describe the pain of your leaving us; and none are adequate to express my love for you. My Ricky! I will miss hearing your voice on the phone; will miss reading all the wild and crazy things you put out on Facebook. It kept you close to have that connection. In my own sorrow it is so wonderful to hear from your friends, family and your siblings. You were certainly loved by all that knew you. As I write this, Robert is traveling from Florida to be here to visit/comfort/and whatever else he can do for me before he travels on to be with family and friends in Phoenix to celebrate your life. Sorrow cannot erase memories and that is what I have an abundance of – in pictures and in my heart. You were such a joy! Love to your precious family today as I think about you. Your maternal grandmother – GranM as you called me.

“Dad!! Words will never express how angry at myself for not being home one last time before this could happen. I love you so much I hope you knew that. I hope you knew even though I was dealing with things here I was coming home. Now I'm coming and you aren't there. Me and the kids love you so much and you will be greatly missed.
